Eddie Frausto from ACTION came and did a termite treatment in my house. He was extremely respectful and he treated several areas and did a very nice job on covering up drill areas. I've been with them for many years and I have never had one complaint about any of them.

EVERY HOME CAN BE A FEAST FOR TERMITES

Here in Arizona every house will eventually get termites and the famous saying is "It's not if you'll get termites but when". Although certain conditions conducive may make your home more susceptible to termite infestations and damage no home is considered safe from termites until it has been treated.

KNOW THE DIFFERENCE: FLYING ANT VS TERMITE

Swarming ants or swarming termites? Don't let an inexperienced termite inspector misidentify one of these.

SUBTERRANEAN TERMITES: INTERESTING FACTS

DAMAGE - Subterranean termites can cause the most damage of any termite species. U.S. residents spend an estimated $5 billion annually to control termites and repair termite damage.

MUD TUNNELS - These termites build distinctive tunnels, often referred to as "mud tubes," to reach food sources and protect themselves from open air and predators.

COLONY SIZE - In ideal conditions with abundant resources, mature subterranean termite colonies can grow to include several million individuals. In Arizona you can have several colonies per acre or one colony with a tunnel system covering an entire acre.

HIVE INTELLIGENCE - Subterranean termite colonies exhibit collective intelligence. They make decisions as a group, which allows them to adapt to changing conditions and allocate resources efficiently.

ANCIENT ORIGINS - Termites are believed to have been on Earth for more than 100 million years. They are often referred to as "living fossils" due to their long evolutionary history.
